Indesit Company, as any global organization must adapt its products to the regulations of Polish market. It is not only a challenge and responsibility, but also big flexibility and independence in making decisions. It has an influence on how people work. We have a good work environment that is created by young and open-minded people. Working in an international company makes it possible to learn how to cooperate with people from different working cultures. Indesit enables people to expand their knowledge – not only about people and the way a global company operates, but also about product life cycle: starting from an idea, throughout laboratory tests, production in a Polish factory, up to shop delivery. It is a company for those who like challenges, freedom and unconventional tasks.
